In Memory.

Once again the death angel has visited the home of S. A. Dillard and took from him his dearly beloved wife.

She was born Feb. 20, 1859, and died Aug. 16, 1912. She was fifty-three years of age. Mrs. Dillard was a daughter of John Arfack, who died several years ago. She was married to S. A. Dillard July 1879, who survives her. To this union were born six children, four of whom still live, they are:—Mrs. Ed White, of Applegate; Mrs. Howard Eskew, Mrs. Will Winders, of Weston; and a son, Clyde.

Mrs. Dillard professed religion at the age of eighteen, and lived a faithful member up to the time of her death. She had been sick only a few weeks.

Mrs. Dillard was a good woman, a loving and devoted wife and affectionate mother.

All of her children were by her bedside during her sickness, also one brother, George Arfack. Just before death struck her, she prayed to the dear Father to take her, she asked Him why she should lie and suffer so. And He heard and answered her prayers. She bore her sickness well, and quietly passed away to the great beyond knowing she was going to meet the dear savior. She has left dear friends and relatives for a little while—but we hope to meet her in the heavenly realms above. Do not weep and mourn dear husband and children, for God has taken your dear wife and mother to live with Him and little Andy and sisters and brothers who have passed on before her. The writer has been made to feel so many times like "oh! how can we give Mrs. Dillard up for she was such a good and sweet woman." May God bind up our troubled hearts and cheer up the bereaved ones. He giveth only to take away, and all the dearest ties of this life must sooner or later be broken, death will enter every home. A sainted wife and mother has gone on before, prepare yourselves dear children to meet your sweet and loving mother on that bright celestial shore, where there will be no more parting.

May God guide and comfort the bereaved ones is our prayer. From husband and children so dear, She has flown to that realm of light above.

She looks down from the starry sky, On the ones she loved while here.

A Friend,
BEATRICE BENNETT.

OUR FRIENDS IN PRINCETON

Give Added Praise. Their Statements Are Convincing.

It is gratifying for us to read such good news as the following, for it shows that the experience of our friends in Princeton is the same as that of many Marion men and women who have spoken out so heartily in these columns:

Mrs. Mattie L. Morse, Princeton, Ky., says: "For years I suffered from kidney trouble. My back pained me terribly and at night the trouble was worse. I did not sleep and in the morning felt more tired than when I went to bed. I was dizzy and nervous and my limbs became swollen that I could not do my housework. I was hardly able to get around without assistance. At times I became unconscious. One day I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and as soon as I began their use, I felt their good effect. In a remarkably short time I was around, doing my housework. That was nearly four years ago and I have taken a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills since then and they have kept my kidneys in good normal condition. Any kidney sufferer who sees this will do well to take my advice and use Doan's Kidney Pills. I cannot praise this excellent remedy too highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TAFT SEES BULL MOUSE SCENE AT NEW THEATRE

President's Jaw Drops and Usual Smile Leaves Faces of Chief Executive.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Special—Everybody in Chase's theatre looked at President Taft to-night and the President looked straight ahead of him when the moving picture operator flashed on the screen a series of scenes reviewing the Bull Moose convention. The series culminated with a rapid-fire representation of Col.

Roosevelt making a vigorous speech to the convention, and showed the crowds under the flags in the Coliseum.

The President slightly dropped his jaw when the scene unfolded before him; then he resumed his fixed smile, but did not continue his leisurely survey of the crowd in the theatre.

It was the opening night of Chase's new house, and a great crowd attended.

Mr. W. S. Gonsalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

Would Keep Vote

From Unborn Negro.

Washington, Aug. 27.—An amendment to the Constitution, introduced by Senator Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, that will keep the vote from the negro yet to be born and preserve this as white man's government, is causing considerable discussion in congressional circles here. In introducing the amendment, Senator Newlands said: "The blacks had a right to be made free men, but did they have the right to be made sovereigns? And was not their sudden transformation from slaves to sovereigns greatest cruelty that could be inflicted upon them as well as upon the whites? Freedom was a right; suffrage was a privilege. The former was beneficial; the latter prejudicial. While securing and strengthening the former; why not withdraw the latter, eliminating any appearance of injustice by applying it only to those hereafter born? And then how humanely and beneficially we could bring the national government into co-operation with the states in plans for the real—not sham—betterment of this unfortunate race."

PADUCAH BANKER'S TESTIMONY

FOR the benefit of any of my friends and acquaintances who may be afflicted with Kidney or Liver trouble, I state that I have found Hays' Specific an efficient remedy and I believe, a permanent cure for myself for some time I was a sufferer from a disorder of these organs and finally resorted to Hays' Specific. It is with no degree of pride that I permit my name to be used to promote the interest of the manufacture of this remedy, but that it may be of some benefit to my friends.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH IN HER APARTMENTS

Husband, Also Afire, Raves as he Attempts to Fight His Way Into Home.

New York, Aug. 26.—Glove cleaning with gasoline cost the life today of Mrs. Charles E. Thedford, young wife of a well-to-do coal dealer, and the burning out of the uptown apartment where they lived. With her clothes ablaze, Mrs. Thedford rushed to the telephone to sound an alarm. The apartment switchboard operator barely heard the cry of "help help," succeeded by silence.

Those who responded some minutes later found her husband, who had unexpectedly returned for lunch, fighting to get in the apartment, himself on fire from the flames shooting into the hallway, and raving because he could not reach his screaming wife. He was dragged to safety. Mrs. Thedford's charred body was found in her room by fireman.

One of the most common ailments that hard working people are afflicted with is lame back. Apply Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day and massage the parts thoroughly at each application and you will get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.

EYES OF WIFE MURDERER

To Be Grafted Into Blind Boy When Condemned Man is Executed.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—John Cashin, blind newsboy, is waiting for the condemned murderer to die so he can get the dead man's eyes.

But Cashin may be disappointed, as Robert L. Clay, from whose warm body surgeons expect to graft the seeing eyes, is fighting for a new trial on the charge that he killed his wife.

Cashin submitted the plan himself, and specialists declare it feasible. When he heard Clay was to die, Cashin said to a doctor:

"Why can't you take his eyes and put them in place of mine? He won't need them. Why shouldn't I have them. He has lost his right to live, the law says, and why, then, not give me his perfect physical vision, so that I may live as other men, not as a dependent."

Cashin has been disappointed once. The execution originally was set for July.

Dr. Phinzy Calhoun is to have charge of the operation if Clay dies. Here is the plan:

Clay's eyes will be removed immediately after he has paid the penalty. They will be placed in a warm saline solution and hurried to a hospital, where Cashin will be waiting.

The cornea, the seeing part of the eye, will be put in place of Cashin's useless cornea. Then, Dr. Calhoun says, the optic nerve, long unused, will exercise its function, and Cashin will see.

As They Do It In Paducah

Friday afternoon every body was agreeably surprised to see the electric lights go on, but still more so when they stayed on. Superintendent Lytton, after looking all over the engine for its trouble hundreds of times and having several specialists do likewise, finally staggered onto the trouble in the form of a cam that had slipped about the sixteenth of an inch. The engine clucks now like it meant it.

in Slain Girl's Eyes.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 24.—C. M. Brown of Villisca, Ia., here declared that detectives working upon the recent murder of eight persons in the family of J. M. Moore have secured photograph of the murderer from retina of the eyes of one of the Stillinger sisters. The girl was the only one who had awakened during the attack.

The murderer wore a mask and an apron, evidently to prevent his clothing from becoming spattered with blood.

Monkeys Made Life Burden on Ship

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26.—The voyage of the big steam freighter Egremont Castle from the Far East came near being one long nightmare. Forty-one monkeys were taken on board at an Eastern port. They refused to answer the dinner-bell; they swarmed in the rigging, hopelessly tangling any loose ends of rope they could find; swung on the whistle rope, sending forth blasts of the siren in the dead of night; rifled the galley shelves and upset everything that was not nailed down.

Freedom of the ship had been granted to the monkeys to keep them in better health, but Capt. Smith finally ordered them caught and put back in the cages. This resulted in the death of twelve.

ELECTRICITY FOR DULLNESS

New York Will Try the Experiment of Charging its Schoolrooms.

New York, Aug. 27.—The New York Board of Education is expected to authorize a trial this fall of the Swedish invention of Dr. Syante Arrhenius for electrifying a schoolroom, and thereby producing results from the pupils. The experiment, which has been successful in Stockholm, will be tried in a room in which a class of defective pupils is being taught. The cost for a year's trial will be less than $10,000.

The electrifier consists of a series of wires in the walls of the classroom. These wires will be charged with high frequency currents. The plan will be to have two classrooms, as nearly alike as possible, one electrified and the other not, each to have the same number of pupils. At the end of a certain period comparisons will be made between the pupils in the electrified room and those in the room not electrified.

Obituary.

Iva May Turley, little child of Burk and Lola Turley, died at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, Aug. 17, 1912, after an illness of fourteen hours. Iva was a precious babe and at her death she was five months and fourteen days old. She was taken suddenly ill and everything was done for her that kind hands and medical skill could do, but all to no avail, and her little soul went back to God who gave it.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Piney cemetery.

Have you thought the resurrection; Seen in nature year by year, Is a symbol of our rising; Children, ye are buds maturing; May your winter be a passage, Through the gates to the glory land.

We, the undersigned voters of Crittenden County, Kentucky, having faith in the progressive principles of government espoused by Theodore Roosevelt, believing also in his personal integrity admiring his courageous stand in behalf of the people, and denouncing the unfair methods by which the Republican nomination for President was taken from him, do hereby issue this call to all voters of this county, regardless of their previous party affiliations, who believe in honesty and fair dealing in politics as in other things, who appreciate the efforts of this great leader to make the people triumphant over the bosses, and who are prepared to stand with him at this crucial time; to such voters we issue this call to meet with us at the Court House, in Marion, Kentucky, at 1 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, the 31st day of August, 1912, for the purpose of forming an organization to promote the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram W. Woodrow Wilson, Scholar and Statesman, Democratic Candidate For President.

FARMERS SHOULD SUPPORT WILSON

Best Equipped Man For Presidency Since Lincoln.

SENATOR GARDNER'S VIEWS.

The Maine Statesman, Himself a Farmer, Declares That President Taft Would Continue to Tax Farmers of the United States and at the Same Time Compel Them to Compete With Canadian Farmers.

The reasons why those engaged in agricultural pursuits should support Governor Woodrow Wilson for president are strongly set forth by Senator Obadiah Gardner of Maine in an address to farmers.

Senator Gardner is a practical farmer, one who farms his own farm, and he is probably in closer touch and sympathy with country life and its environments than any other man in public life.

For twenty-five years Senator Gardner has been actively interested in the national grange, and for ten years he was the master of the state grange of Maine. A few years ago he came within a close margin of being elected governor of the Pine Tree State.

A little less than a year ago, when Senator Frye, who had represented Maine in the senate for thirty years, died, Governor Plaisted honored Mr. Gardner and recognized the agricultural interests of the country by appointing him to the United States senate, where he has made a most creditable record, devoting particular attention to the welfare of the great rural population of the country. He is now a candidate for re-election and will undoubtedly be successful.

In his address Senator Gardner says: "To the Farmers of the United States, Greeting:

Being one of you and for the greater part of my life having been engaged in the practical everyday duties of my own farm, having been for twenty-five years past officially at work through boards of agriculture and the national and state granges, having served four years as second officer of the national grange and as master of the Maine state grange ten years, during which time the order in Maine added 3,545 members and attained a power and influence never held before, I feel I am in a position to speak from the standpoint of one who knows the farmer and his needs, and it is solely because of

THE PEOPLE AND THE CURRENCY.

In dealing with the complicated and difficult question of the reform of our banking and currency laws it is plain that we ought to consult very many persons besides the bankers, not because we distrust the bankers, but because they do not necessarily comprehend the business of the country, notwithstanding they are indispensable servants of it and may do a vast deal to make it hard or easy. No mere bankers' plan will meet the requirements, no matter how honestly conceived. It should be a merchants and farmers' plan as well, elastic in the hands of those who use it as an indispensable part of their daily business. From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination presidents ever in the White House and through whom none will be released a hearing, however humble, our fair and honest justice at his hands. He is not a nervous man, and I wish every citizen in the United States could know him as I know him. And supplementing all these qualities is the addition that his home is one of perfect business.

None can meet the splendid Mrs. Wilson and her three refined, cultured daughters with their perfect naturalness but must feel that the whole family of Woodrow Wilson was especially prepared to do a great need in the present crisis in the history of our country, as were Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, and I would advise the farmers upon my reputation, as a man, if you want to protect your own interests and those of your families, if you want to render the greatest possible good to your country and future generations, if you want to contribute your part to the end that popular government under God shall not perish from the earth, then see that the Hon. Woodrow Wilson is elected president.

WHAT REPUBLICAN PROSPERITY IS.

What has the result been? Prosperity? Yes; if by prosperity you mean vast wealth, no matter how distributed or whether distributed at all or not; if you mean vast enterprises built up to be presently concentrated under the control of comparatively small bodies of men, who can determine almost at pleasure whether there shall be competition or not. The nation as a nation has grown immensely rich. She is justly proud of her industries and of the genius of her men of affairs. They can master anything they set their minds to, and we have been greatly stimulated under their leadership and command. Their laurels are many and very green. We must accord them the great honors that are their due, and we must preserve what they have built up for us. But what of the other side of the picture? It is not easy for us to live as it used to be. Our money will not buy as much. High wages, even when we can get them, yield us no great comfort. We used to be better off with less, because a dollar could buy so much more. The majority of us have been disturbed to find ourselves growing poorer, even though our earnings were slowly increasing. Prices climb faster than we can push our earnings up. From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

O'REAR NOT TO SUPPORT TAFT ON THE STUMP

Declares He Can Neither Defend Administration Nor President's Nomination.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Judge E. C. O'Rear of Frankfort, will not support President Taft on the stump in Kentucky this fall. He so stated to the Courier-Journal correspondent here this evening. The Judge said that he could neither defend the Taft administration nor the method by which he secured his nomination.

He further stated that he would make some speeches for his friend, Judge A. J. Kirk, Republican candidate for Appellate Judge in this district, but further than that was out of politics and would devote his time in the future solely to the practice of law.

Judge O'Rear asked that his position be stated in the Courier-Journal so that the people would know exactly his position.

PROTECTIVE TARIFFS AND THE VICTIMS

In a tariff debate several years ago, my adversary brought our audience almost to its feet with a declamatory climax to the effect that Benjamin Franklin was a protectionist. I didn't believe it, but I couldn't make an honest denial at the moment. At the first opportunity, however, I looked the matter up. To my great surprise, upon glancing over the index to a collection of Franklin's writings, I found proof that my adversary was right. Franklin was a protectionist; for there in that index these words stared me in the face: "Protection, a good thing for the commerce of nations." But I turned to the text—as my adversary probably had not—to learn why this acute philosopher, distinguished in a great period of the world's history, thought so well of tariff protection; and this is what I found that Franklin had really said: "It is a good thing for the commerce of nations to establish protection against pirates of the high seas."

Of course protection against piracy is a good thing. But protection against piracy is the very reverse of protection against trade.

With piracy, or protective tariffs, trade is obstructed; but without piracy and without protective tariffs, trade is free.

Now, every plausible argument for tariff protection is like my adversary's interpretation of Franklin. It is upside down. For instance, there is the balance-of-trade argument. We are told that our exports exceed our imports. So they do. But how can a people prosper with outgo larger than income. Oh, they tell us, these protectionists, that the excessive outgo will come back to us in pure gold. But it hasn't. They tell us that it isn't excessive outgo all the time. But it is. Since 1834, according to the Treasury reports, the total excess of outgo over income, of exports over imports—merchandise, gold and silver, all together—aggregate a great deal more than $9,000,000,000—two-thirds of it since 1896. Evidently we are a tributary nation.

In Great Britain and other countries, they get tribute instead of paying tribute. Then there are the statistical comparisons of foreign wages with American wages. That argument also is upside down. Those statistics are misleading in two ways. In the first place money wages may be lower abroad, but real wages higher, because the cost of living is less abroad. In the second place, time wages may be less abroad than time wages here, when the same wages measured by the effectiveness of the work for which they are paid are less here than there. When these statistics are investigated it will usually be found, either that they are false, or that American wages are lower substantially than foreign wages.

Could there be anything more absurd than most arguments for tariff protection for workers? The protective tariff either increases prices, or it does not. If the protective tariff does not increase prices, how can it increase wages, except as heat brings frost—by its absence? But if the protective tariff does increase prices, it can not increase wages. The only way to increase wages is to increase demand for labor products. How can higher prices of products do that? If the protective tariff did increase both prices and wages, it would take more from the worker in higher cost of living as a consumer, than it could give him in wages as a worker.

Protective tariffs or taxes on production necessarily make high prices and low wages. Thorold Roger shows that high prices and low wages, and low prices and high wages, have gone together through six centuries of industrial history in England. Don't they go together in the United States at the present moment? Tariff protection, like every other tax upon workers and the processes and products of their work, always has, does now and always will make for poverty among the working class. It stands to reason that it would be so; it is a fact that it has been so.

Protection is one of the advance agents of poverty. Under the protective tariff, monopolists filch food from the poor man's table; under the protective tariff, monopolists substitute shoddy for wool in the poor man's clothing; under the protective tariff, monopolists grind down the wages of the poor who submit and shoot down or starve out the poor who don't submit. Could piracy on the high seas be any worse?—Louis F. Post in "The Public."

DISCHARGED SON
Praised Father for Chastizing Daughter Who Ran Streets.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 27.—Judge Charles Batt. of the city court, instead of fining George Fusshouse, aged sixty, arranged for assault and battery on his sixteen year old daughter, congratulated the father and said that "if more Terre Haute parents would do the same thing fewer girls would go wrong."

George Fusshouse, Jr., aged 20, helped his father take the girl home, was freed of the same charge preferred by his sister. The father, with tears in his eyes, told how his daughter was "running the streets at night" and taking automobile rides.

CALEB POWERS DOOMED.
Colonel Woodson May Issues Address to Kentucky Democrats.

It begins to look like there is a real chance to elect Hon. Ben. V. Smith to Congress from the Eleventh District. The Progressives have put up a strong candidate in the person of a popular engineer of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, who will necessarily divide the Republican vote with Congressman Caleb Powers, who seems to have lost out with all factions because of his failure to please either and his inability to land any of the prizes for his constituents in the shape of offices. The people of his district have come to the conclusion that he is absolutely without influence in Washington and as a Kentucky Legislator once said to another "his people had just as well write a letter and kept him at home." At the last election Mr. Powers did not poll near the strength of his party, and this time he will fall short of his former vote. The Republicans no longer regard Mr. Powers as an asset but a liability and think he has been "vindicated" sufficiently.

Conditions at present point to the election of Mr. Smith. He is popular with the Republicans and will draw many a vote from the conservative element of that party. The Democrats of that neck o' the woods are short of money, however, to conduct the campaign, which, in a district composed of so many counties and requires much money for necessary expenses. In order to raise a fund Colonel Woodson May, State District Committee-man, editor of the Somerset Journal and manager for Mr. Smith, announced that he will attempt to raise money for the campaign in his district by popular subscription of one dollar and asks that all who want the Democrats to succeed in that stronghold of Republicans will send him that amount each. The effort is commendable and the contribution will prove an excellent investment. It is hoped that all who read this article and who feel able to do so, will send Mr. May a check for at least a dollar and help the struggling Democrats of the Eleventh District to redeem it.—From Lexington Herald August 12.

election he will be a Roosevelt supporter; fifthly, at the present time there seem to be eight or nine of the county committee who are very favorably inclined toward Col. Roosevelt; sixthly under the head of your question as above, I want to give you some information that your committee is not cognizant of and I want to also answer your communication of the 10th instant, inclosing a resolution of the State Central Committee adopted at their meeting held on Aug. 7th instant:

WAS ELECTED REGULARLY.

The present County Committee of which I have the honor of being chairman, was elected regularly and without any taint of fraud on their title at precinct conventions held a few months ago under rules, by the State Central Committee.

They believed then as they believe now that Roosevelt was the overwhelming choice of the Republicans of this county, and I am sure I voice their sentiments when I say that if the various State Central Committees of this country of ours (that you profess to love so well) and the 'bosses' elected, or rather selected to the national convention had taken one third of the pains to find out the sentiment of the great people before the steal as afterward this solicitation on your part would have been unnecessary.

"Your letter of the 10th inst. was very courteous and I am sorry I cannot say so much for the resolution enclosed. I have been loyal to the Republican party by 'word and act' for nearly fifty years. Some of my associates on the committee are not as old as I am, but I assure you they are good Republicans or at least were until the late unpleasantness, and so far none of us by acts at least have manifested disloyalty to the great Republican party and we had hoped—until the resolution came—that maybe in the years to come the party would return to the people who made it so glorious and we could be humble instruments in its uplift.

OTHERS JOIN HIM.

"However, under the edict promulgated by your committee and in order to be perfectly fair to the nominee of the Republican party, and to ourselves, the following members of the Anderson County Executive Committee have this day resigned from said Committee: W. W. Wash, Rolla Hankins, Holmes Gordon, Charles Mayberry, N. B. Statton, W. W. Bond and the writer. I am sure that the following will resign Friday next: P. Dennis and Lester Tinsley.

"President Taft said in a speech made last Saturday that he is entitled to a fair fight. I believe he is, and am profoundly sorry he has not practiced what he is now preaching, for if he had he would not now be in the fight and Roosevelt would have swept the country like a cyclone."
